SEE IT THAT YOU HAVE KNOWN SCREENS

The county physician in Chicago desires first class persons in one year than five in 24. He says screens are far more important than first class.

What is true in Chicago is equally true in Toronto.

There is no law requiring screens. In the absence of such a law it is up to everyone of you to decide of yourselves what the law has and get yourself—screens.

Screen your doors, screen your windows, and your food. And make your screen screens have screens.

And if an occasional fly slips in while the screen door is open, swat him.

WHY ADD TO HIS BURDEN?

The Saskatchewan commission has been investigating the wheat marketing problem. It has found that it costs about twice as much to land Canadian wheat in Liverpool as it does to land there from other wheat-growing countries.

That is a condition imposed by nature in placing the great wheat-growing portion of Canada far from the seaboard.

Because this condition is not absolutely remediable, the necessity of doing what can be done to minimize the disadvantage is the greater. Transportation rates from the wheat-growing portion of Canada should not be levied upon the basis of how much the traffic can be made to bear; but in recognition of the fact that the more the Western farmer is able to export the more prosperous will be the country.

As nature has handicapped the Western Canadian farmer in the Liverpool market, the greater the necessity that he should have the freest possible access to any and all other markets.

It is suggested that parents be made liable to a fine whose children play upon the streets and get in the way of traffic.

The suggestion springs, no doubt, out of consideration for the children and out of danger and the seizure of the child.

That the council are facing the necessity of doing something with the children is good news.

It is to be hoped they will continue to face it considerably and consistently until it is solved.

CHURCHILL DISPOSES OF THE "EMERGENCY"

In Mr. Churchill's review of the naval situation in the Imperial House of Commons there occur two points of direct interest to Canadians.

The first Lord was careful to make it clear that the defeat of the Borden-Patner naval scheme was not interpreted as indicating any lack of willingness on the part of the Opposition in Canada to assume a proper and vital part in the provision of the means of defence at sea.

The second point of interest was the fact that the Government's newspaper friends to impute to the Opposition a lack of concern in the question of Canada's naval defence.

The other passage of note in the speech is that in which Mr. Churchill alluded to the necessity of doing what can be done to minimize the disadvantage is the greater.

Even though the recent showing that visited the district were not made, they were welcome and made us feel that the "Oxy" was the result of which will appear later.

Work on the erection of the rural telephone line running north from town was commenced a few days ago. This time, as well as the line running from the town to the lake, will be completed in six weeks.

S. I. Hume, accompanied by Mrs. Hume, is expected to leave Tuesday to take up residence on their farm near Watly Lake, about 20 miles north of town.

T. Kennedy, of Elmer, who has been transacting business in the capital for several days, was a visitor in town Tuesday evening while en route for home.

After spending the past seven or eight days at Elmer, the lake, and the relatives and friends, Alfred Kennedy returned home this week. He is expected to leave for home in a few days.

Next month the Ryko ceremony again paid the top price for better fat than any other in the district. The price was $12 per pound, which is at least three cents more than the average for the Edmonton market.

Those who have been watching the price of the crop in this district may find that the yield will easily equal that of the last year previous in the history of grain growing in this district.

Warden Dodd Recommends His Plan of Breaking Up Hunger Strike by Choking and Maiming.

Edinburgh, N. S., July 17.—The manner in which Warden Charles Dodd, of the county prison, broke up a hunger strike today, may set a useful example, he thinks, to the keepers of English prisons who become custodians of outlaws who seek to gain their liberty by refusing to eat.

William Turner, a prison prisoner incarcerated last Sunday, sought to gain his liberty in a similar manner. The morning the nurse had forty-eight hours without food, and he had been in the hospital, in place of his cell with a large quantity of food. He had been in the hospital, in place of his cell with a large quantity of food. He had been in the hospital, in place of his cell with a large quantity of food.

A machine for strychnine and other poisons is in use for the first time in the prison. It was invented by a New York man.

ATHABASCA

The Gateway of the North, the point at which the railway system of Canada connects with one of the largest river systems of the world—the Mackenzie, with its great tributaries, the Athabasca and the Peace—and its series of lakes, second only to those of the St. Lawrence.

From the town of Athabasca to the Arctic ocean, 1,500 miles in direct distance, and from the Rocky Mountains eastward for an average distance of five hundred miles every pound of goods passing through Athabasca. The only exception is a part of the trade which travels to Grande Prairie, south of Peace River, which leaves the G.T.P. at Edson. Heading all the transport and much of the trade of this enormous though undeveloped territory, Athabasca is naturally a very busy place at the present time. What it will become as the Peace, Athabasca and Mackenzie river regions develop will depend largely on the enterprise and foresight of the people in turning opportunity to advantage while development is going on.

Up to date enterprise has not been lacking. The C.N.R. only began regular operation to Athabasca in August last. Until regular operation was assured the town was not warranted in incurring large expenditures for permanent improvements, but with the advent of the railway and consequent increase of population the need became pressing and steps were taken to meet the need.

Water supply is the necessity of town or city life, and the installation of a water system, with a special view to fire protection, was undertaken last fall. Over three miles of mains are laid out, with 24 hydrants for fire protection, but house connections have yet to be made. The river is the source of supply. The intake is on the south bank, about three-quarters of a mile above the post office. The steam power is located at the intake. The purification works will also be located there.

Cabinet Council Holds Long Session at Which Question is Considered

Washington, D. C., July 18.—Consideration of the Mexican situation took much of the time of the president and the cabinet at a regular session today. Secretary Bryan had a long conference with the president before the other members arrived. Although reports are coming in from various sources that the administration is looking forward to first-hand information from Ambassador Wilson on his way from Mexico City. It was again authoritatively stated today that the attitude of the administration still was unchanged.

It was reported that the cabinet unanimously was in accord with the president in waiting a return to stable conditions before extending recognition. Several officials stated that the cabinet had from the beginning been of the opinion that the changing of the Mexican policy warranted the cabinet only for some time to come.

Some of the members of the cabinet were not inclined to think any action would be taken following Ambassador Wilson's conference, and reiterated the belief that until the elections held in Mexico and an appearance of peace was in sight, formal recognition would possibly be withheld.

POLICE EXCHEQUER ENRICHED BY $600

$100 Fine is Imposed Upon Mah Yong on Charge of Possessing Opium While Freda Norman is Fined $200 and Costs on Charge of Selling Intoxicating Liquor

$200 and costs went into the police court exchequer yesterday as the result of two convictions. Mah Yong was charged with possession and selling liquor without a license. Mah Yong was the accused in the opinion case, in which the penalty in default of payment was nine months imprisonment.

The liquor selling charge against Freda Norman occupied a considerable part of the morning, and evidence was given by several police witnesses that "Biggie" had been bought at the house on Second street, occupied by the accused. The selling was alleged to have taken place on Gramercy day.

What particular brand of beer had been sold to the witnesses seemed to know, but they declared it to be of first rate quality, to judge by its effect upon themselves.

M. W. Sauer, for the prosecution: "Were there not a number of men up on the premises the night before?" H. H. Robertson, for the defence: "I object to the introduction of questions that are utterly irrelevant." The accused stated in the witness box that she kept a rooming house, and did not know anyone.

Inspector Horton told the accused "Biggie" had been bought at the house with the alternative in default of four months imprisonment at Calgary.

HURLERS MORE AGGRESSIVE THAN EVER SAYS ZIMMERMAN

Star National League Batman of Chicago: Team Explodes Theory of "Placing Hits" Wherever Hitter Wishes—Evers Can Do It Occasionally

By Henry (Honey) Zimmerman.

Is the pitching getting better or worse? Is a question asked of me many times.

"Better," is always my answer. I will explain.

I do not believe that the pitchers of today have any more in the ball than did the hurlers of five years ago. They have no better curves and their change of pace is no more effective, but they take more chances in the pitches.

A few years ago there were very few pitchers who could curve a ball when the count was two and three. If a batter got a pitcher in the hole by that count the batter knew that the pitcher was going to sacrifice himself, he possessed in an effort to get that deciding ball over the plate. There was no conceit about it. The pitcher simply took a chance on the batter hitting the ball where a fielder was.

Only the very great stars would take a chance on a pitch like that. Now almost all of them do it. I do not believe there is a pitcher in the Brooklyn staff who won't curve the ball with two and three. If they don't it is over good and well. They figure that the chances of scoring are no greater than if they curve and walk a man than if they put it square over the plate and allowed a man to hit.

Only Few Hitters Can "Place a Hit"

There is little chance for the pitchers of this year and those of five years ago so far as headwork and mechanical ability are concerned. But the greater frequency with which the hit and run is played, the greater the chances taken by the batter, have resulted in the pitcher taking longer chances.

Ever since I can remember there has been a controversy over whether or not there was such a thing as placing a hit.

Some people were of the opinion that a pitcher could place a hit, and that the batter could place a hit. Others were of the opinion that a pitcher could not place a hit, and that a batter could not place a hit.

Now, however, the opinion is that a pitcher can place a hit, and that a batter can place a hit. This is the opinion of the majority of the baseball writers and the majority of the baseball fans.

It is true that a pitcher can place a hit, and that a batter can place a hit. But it is also true that a pitcher can not place a hit, and that a batter can not place a hit.

The latter statement was not originated by the writer, but by Uncle Charlie Schaefer, the late writer of the "Young Man" column in the "Chicago Tribune".

Uncle Charlie was a judge of the world's players second to none in the world. He was a judge of the world's players second to none in the world.

Jake a Combs' Champion.

America had hoped that Young Jake Schaefer would prove a worthy successor of his father, but it seems to me that America is to realize her hopes when she sees the appended record of a game played in Chicago on Tuesday night.

Young Schaefer pitched a beautiful game. He pitched a beautiful game. He pitched a beautiful game.

ing a hit. Some players have concluded that they could do it. Some players have concluded that they could do it.

I do not believe any batter can stand up there and swing and drive a base hit into any field that he chooses.

I know when I walk up I give them every time I get a base hit and I'm disappointed if I happen to hit one by left when I might have got more money to drive it.

Now Place Them True in the Case.

Placing base hits is a nice thing to do, and it is so apparent that he receives a great hand, but it has always been my belief that there was more fiction than fact connected with this.

Stingers are of two types—the fellows who put their bodies into the game, and the fellows who swing with the arms and shoulders. I believe the latter have the best of the argument.

Maybe I am prejudiced in their favor for the reason that I belong to that class.

You have seen how they pitch. They seem to be a bit stiff of arm and when it comes to swinging they seem to try to throw their body into the punch as well as their shoulders. With the latter the power of the arm and arms was lost and there was nothing strained about their position.

Throughout the west and far west would be won a royal treat.

Upon reaching San Francisco, Schaefer will throw down his arms and will be to those former amateur stars, "Chick" Wright and Signorino of California, and Clarence Jackson, former pitcher of Chicago, who is making his home in the coast city. It has been suggested that the four meet in a special tournament, which, if materialized, should prove of more interest to Californians than any other baseball match they have had.

Chance to witness in years. Schaefer has been for the tournament as he made a trip west when a mere child, meeting all players and a couple of defeats sustained by these same players he proposes to meet.

Rankings in his class. He means he will turn the tables on them if they face him.

Hooping Proves Beneficial.

Meanwhile Young Schaefer is resting up at his mother's home in Mendocino. He has been in the habit of swinging on either Lake Mendocino or Dead Lake, and the exercise in the open is doing him a wonderful lot of good physically. Though he will weigh 125 to 130 pounds, he is a real 110 and weighs nearly 160. He gets his size from his mother's side of the family, as his father was a small man, measuring about 5 feet 6, and never weighed more than 140.

But what the father lacked in size he made up in grit and young Jake is blessed with both. The combination, Uncle Charlie Schaefer says, will make the youngster a champion, and what Uncle is willing to back his prediction with real coin of the realm.

Young Schaefer is possessed of a beautiful stroke. It is a side stroke like that of his famous parent, as he stands straight up to the ball, but it has a charming rhythmic swing to it, and when he sets warmed up to a big run he clicks off the points with the delicacy of an expert.

He has not yet developed the matchless wrist movement of his father, but that is coming to him and will some day form one of the highlights of his game.

Uncle Charlie at 22.

While Uncle Charlie was telling of his dead brother's triumphs, he drifted along to the story of his own. Nothing is so common as to hear of a man on each other time and time again, and it is no exception in the case of Uncle Charlie.

He was quite evenly matched in skill, but on the particular occasion when he had made a home run, he was quite evenly matched in skill.

Thousands had been watching on the field, and the game was in the last inning, then in vogue, and with the game apparently over, Schaefer's batter took up their sticks. Nothing dented the mighty little Jake.

While he had been in the game, he had been in the game, and he had been in the game.

Two innings, his closing outting seemed a cluster of 24, unthinkingly. The youngster pitched up his career, and he was quite evenly matched in skill.
